TWENTY - EIGHTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIMES (B)

13th October 2024

First Reading: Wisdom 7:7-11 Second Reading: Hebrews 4:12-13 Gospel: Mark 10:17-30

The First Reading is from the book of Wisdom teaches us how to live rightly, and enables us to use the things of this world in a way that will help us achieve the end for which God put us on earth. Wisdom, therefore, should be prized even more than gold.

The Gospel is a discipleship story. The Jews prosperity of the rich was a sign of God's blessing. But Jesus gives us so many reminders of the dangers of wealth in his parables, because the call of money, status and security is so attractive and alluring that it can easily take our minds and hearts away from God, and make us selfish and unloving, hoarding instead of generous.

Money, in itself, is neither good nor bad. It can be hoarded for selfish use, it can be spent excessively and slowly for status reasons, or it can be shared with those who have less than we do. What we decide to do with what we have is one way of telling where our heart truly lies.

Jesus tells us that we cannot serve two masters: it is God or money. It is a question of trust and dependence. Do we trust in what we have accumulated, or do we depend on God?

It's important to understand that Jesus wasn't condemning wealth. Faith and wealth can coexist. Indeed, the young man probably a good example to others; he kept all the commandments suggests that he was a good-living and respectable young man. But he suffered from one defect, which can afflict anyone whatever their level of personal possessions. He could not let go of what gave him a sense of security in this life.

The essence of Christian faith is to put one's trust in God, and to rely on God as the sole source of security and well-being.
